We are so proud of the incredible work of our members, friends and partners. We are so grateful to work with such a tremendous community of organizations and activists.

On the frontlines, taking up the challenging (and rewarding) community organizing tasks. Putting the interests of the community first and foremost. Keeping pressure on the President (and it wasn’t ‘popular’ to do) to provide relief from detention and deportation—something we had called on him to consider when he took office in 2009.

Broadening our alliances. Standing up for justice. Acting in solidarity. Taking up an active role in the global community for migrants’ rights.

Let’s continue to make a difference—for human rights, equality and justice in 2015 and beyond!
